The Tax Supervisors of Daviess county have created great excitement and more or less indignation in Owensboro by "digging up" and publishing a list of 103 persons who neglected to assess diamonds valued at $42,700. AN EXPERT ACCOUNTANT

To Be Employed to Audit The Financial Records of The City.

CEMETERY FUNDS DISCUSSED

Council Gives Consideration To Important Business Problems.

The city council met in regular session Friday night with all the members present and Mayor Yost presiding. But little business was on hand and the council remained in session only about an hour and a half.

The suggestion contained in the annual report of the former Mayor on Dec. 30, that some plan be devised to create a special cemetery fund from the sale of lots in Riverside Cemetery, and not turn the cemetery revenues into the general fund, was taken up and warmly supported by Mayor Yost. The matter was discussed favorably, but action was postponed.

Another recommendation made by the mayor last summer in a message to the council was renewed in substance by the new mayor, to the effect that an expert accountant be employed to go over the financial records of the city. After discussion, Mayor Yost was authorized to employ an accountant to audit the books back to 1906, the object being to determine the income and expenses of the various departments and to see if the funds of the city have been properly handled. The inquiry will probably be extended to all branches of the city government, general funds, school funds, salaries and appropriations. It is estimated that the work will cost about $300 and will require an examination into the settlements with five tax collectors.

In contrast with the last council, several of whom never made a speech in two years, the present body seems to be oratorically disposed and nearly all of them are ready debaters. It also bids fair to be a working council.

NEST OF WISE OWLS

To Be Built In The Armory Tuesday Night.

Organizer Moses R. Glenn has all arrangements perfected to organize a nest of the Order of "Owls" at the Armory to night. Nearly 150 members have been secured including a number of prominent citizens, among them John C. Duffy, Thos P. Cook, John F. Bible, C. F. Shelton, Ike Hart, Jno. C. Hoove, Drs. T. W. Perkins, D. B. Roach, D. H. Erkiletian, L. Grace and M. W. Rozzell and Capt. E. W. Clark.

Officers will be elected and the nest will start off in a flourishing condition.

Paducah's Library.

The annual report from the custodian of the Paducah Carnegie Library has just been made. It is quite interesting and shows that the number of volumes in the library is 14,675 and 1,311 volumes were added during the year. The average daily issue was 240.

Paducah people are certainly on a literary turn. The Hopkinsville library is not large, but it is large enough for a nucleus for the Carnegie Library when it is thrown open to the public some time this year.

WIPES OUT RULE REASON

Stanley Measure Leaves No Loophole for Sherman Law Violators.

STRENGTHENS STATUTE

Also Clips Authority of Attorney-General Over Starting Prosecutions.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Representative Stanley of Kentucky, after a conference with President Wilson has introduced an amendment to the Sherman law, which would make it legal the monopolization or restraint of trade "in any degree." It is designed to eliminate the "rule of reason" laid down by the supreme court in the Standard Oil case.

The amendment also would invest United States circuit courts with jurisdiction to restrain and prevent violations of the act, irrespective of the attorney-general. It was drawn to meet the wish of the President expressed in his last message to congress to reduce the debatable area surrounding the Sherman act.

The Stanley bill would amend the second and fourth sections of the Sherman law.

In section 2, in which the supreme court injected the "rule of reason," the words "in any degree" are inserted so that the section would read: "Every person who shall monopolize, or attempt to monopolize, or combine or conspire with any person, or persons, to monopolize in any degree any part of the trade or commerce among the several states, or with foreign nations, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both said punishments, in the discretion of the court."

WHAT ABOUT BALL?

Nearly a Dozen Have Signed With the Moguls.

With spring-like weather in the middle of January and boys having their usual fun with the ball, local fans are beginning to want to know whether there will be any professional ball in this section this year. Though it seems Clarksville will not back up its splendid team this year, it is said its place can easily be filled by another team.

Paul Gossage has signed with Owensboro already. "Uncle" Dick Holland, who scored a big success last year as the power behind the Moguls, is now carrying in his pocket twelve or fourteen signatures for the next season. But delay in securing good men is bad policy—no policy at all. It is time for action and we can't believe that Hopkinsville will be without a place to spend a part of the long days of the coming summer.

They Helped Her Along.

A strange woman came to one of the residences of Pembroke, asking for assistance to get to her home in Terre Haute, Ind., saying her sister lived there and she was making her escape from the hands of white slaves, and had been kept in confinement in Chattanooga. She was turned over to the proper authorities and the Ladies Auxiliary raised enough money to purchase her transportation and started on her journey. The woman gave her name as Anna Henden.

Young Girl's Death.

Miss Beulah Stevenson, a daughter of Thomas Stevenson, of the Herndon vicinity, died Thursday night of pleurisy, aged 13 years. The burial took place in the same vicinity Friday afternoon.

LIFE SIZE PORTRAIT

Of Mrs. Stuart to Hang In The Stuart Memorial Hospital.

PAINTED J. A. HOLDER, B.

Other Fine Oil Portraits Painted by The Same Capable Artist

Mr. J. A. Holder, a portrait painter of recognized ability, has been located in Hopkinsville for several months doing special work in oil, operating until recently from one of the local photograph galleries. His first and perhaps his best piece of work was a full life size portrait of the late Mrs. E. S. Stuart, which is to be placed in the Jennie Stuart Memorial Hospital, on West Seventeenth Street, now nearing completion. Mr. Holder's only guide in his work was a small picture of Mrs. Stuart standing in the doorway of her home. This has been enlarged to life size and those who knew Mrs. Stuart best say the artist has created a wonderfully life-like portrait, catching the expression of her face, faithfully representing the color of her hair and eyes and in every respect perfecting a painting that cannot fail to be recognized as a real work of art. Another fine portrait painted by Mr. Holder is a life size bust picture of the late Hiram P. Thomas, a remarkable portrayal of his features and expression. Another portrait of the same style is one of Mr. T. M. Jones, the Main Street merchant. Several others have been painted by private contracts that have not been placed on exhibition in studios. Mr. Holder and his wife, who assists him in his work, expect to leave the city in a few days, having finished their contracts here.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Fiftieth Anniversary of Marriage Celebrated Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rex celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage with a dinner at their home, East Thirteenth street, Sunday, at which a large family gathering occurred. Among the guests were Mr. Hugo Rex and family and Mr. Charlie Lander and family, of this city, and Mr. L. H. Huggins and family, of Casky. Mr. and Mrs. Rex were married in Wisconsin in 1864. About thirteen years ago they moved to this city, where they have since resided. Mr. Rex is now 72 years old and Mrs. Rex is 69. They have four children, as follows: Mrs. Huggins, Mrs. Lander, Hugo Rex and Charles Rex. The last mentioned child resides at Hustisford, Wis.

Their hosts of friends wish for them many more years of happiness and prosperity.

Gone To Florida.

W. C. West left for Florida this morning. He will be gone about six weeks or two months. Not long since he bought 40 acres of land 45 miles South of Jacksonville, on the Coast Line railroad. Mr. West will put out 5 acres of his farm in Grapefruit and later will arrange for growing other fruits.

Hay Crop.

The farmers are becoming more interested in hay making every year. The prospects are that this year's crop will be unusually large, if weather conditions are favorable. Dealers in seeds just now are very busy and the demand for clover seed is notably insistent.

CLOSE TO 1,000 NAMES

Four-fifths of The Democrats of Hopkinsville Sign The Petitions.

931 NAMES ARE FORWARDED.

Demand For Commission Form of Government Is Almost Unanimous.

The committee on Commission Form of Government has forwarded to Representative Duffy a copy of the petitions signed by the voters of Hopkinsville urging him to introduce a bill transferring the city to the third class and to use his influence to pass a bill enabling third cities to vote on a commission form of government. Such a bill has already been introduced by Senator Bosworth, of Middlesboro, but the other third class cities have been conferring with a view to coming to an agreement on a bill acceptable to all of them. Bowling Green, Henderson and Owensboro all want it. Frankfort has not taken a position so far as known.

The petition sent to Mr. Duffy contained 931 names out of 1,332 white voters registered in Hopkinsville. About 50 other names have since come in and the petitions, when the originals are filed, will contain not fewer than 1,000 names or nearly 80 per cent of the white voters and an equally large per cent of the Democrats. It is so nearly unanimous that only a small proportion of voters, either interested parties themselves or closely identified with interested parties, are opposing the change in the city's affairs along progressive lines.

It is reported that preparations are being made to send lobbyists to Frankfort to work against the bills, in spite of the overwhelming popular endorsement they have received.

Representative Duffy is known to be in favor of the measures and is a member of the Commission Government Committee appointed at a mass meeting.

KILLING IN TODD COUNTY

Farmers Fall Out And Fight Over A Telephone Trouble.

In a difficulty at the home of John Willis about fifteen miles north of this city, on Thursday, Jan. 15, John Willis shot Oat Taylor, from the effects of which he died Friday. Oat Taylor and Roy Shelton were returning from Hopkinsville where they had bought some whiskey and stopped at the home of Willis. After taking several drinks Willis and Taylor began talking about some trouble between them over a telephone, when Willis went into his house and came out with a shotgun. Roy Shelton took hold of the gun and in the scuffle the gun was discharged the load striking Taylor in the side. Willis claims the shooting was accidental and surrendered to the county judge and gave bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance January 22. Willis is 55 years old and Taylor was 22.

Brought Good Prices.

At the P. E. Bacon public sale of stock, farming implements and provisions, near Trenton Friday, everything brought splendid prices. Mules sold for $300 per pair, oats $5 per hundred bundles, and other stocks and products in proportion.

Examinations.

Examinations of county pupils for high school entrance will be held at the court house Friday and Saturday, January 30 and 31.

TRENTON LEADING

In the Good Roads Movement In Todd County.

The good roads spirit is abroad in the Trenton magisterial district and good roads work is on in earnest. The gap of two and one half miles on the Trenton-Hopkinsville highway, will be completed in a few weeks and work is ready to begin on two other roads leading out from Trenton, the Trenton-Elkton and the Bells Chapel roads. These roads are to be built by private subscriptions and the money is rapidly forthcoming. In a short while, in that city, $2,500 was raised for the Elkton-Trenton extension and a few days before $5,000 was subscribed to the Trenton-Bells Chapel road.

Weather For Week.

Unsettled weather with snows and rains during much of the week will prevail east of the Missouri river, says the weather bureau at Washington. No unusually cold weather is indicated for any portion of the country.

FOR THE BEDROOM CLOSET

Row of Shelves Easily Arranged That Will Be Found Most Valuable.

The bedroom closet is frequently a secondary consideration, although it may be made an economic and artistic portion of the house. The perfect closet should have a window which readily opens. Under this a chest of drawers is arranged. If the room be sufficiently wide, a portion of these drawers can be built to accommodate hats, after the fashion of the hat-boxes purchased in furnishing stores. Provision for shoes and slippers in a shallow drawer is a convenience often overlooked.

Whenever possible, the clothes-closet should be easily thrown open to outdoor air and light. The linen-closet does not need such an arrangement to so great an extent; but clothes that are frequently worn and used should be cared for in a well-ventilated room, and sunlight also is a wise provision. Mirrors are frequently placed in closet doors, occasionally on the inside, where the effect of the wood-work finish is not interrupted by the mirror-paneled door; but, more often, they are placed on the bedroom side.

Shallow closets, or wardrobes, while not so hygienic, are sometimes a necessity, and they may be made most convenient. When built along one side of a room with mirror doors, they make an attractive feature. Shallow drawers are frequently built below the main clothes space, and a cupboard above for hats. There are firms which manufacture fixtures for closets of this type. The fixture consists of a pole, which pulls out and exposes the clothes placed on hangers. This shallow closet takes up more wall-space in a bedroom; but, where compression of floor space is a necessity, it may be easily arranged and made very convenient.

Boiled Salad Dressing.

Mix three teaspoons of sugar, one-half teaspoon of mustard, one teaspoon of salt; beat the ingredients into the yolks of two eggs, add three tablespoons of cream, either sweet or sour; one-half cup of vinegar and the beaten whites of two eggs, cook until it thickens, stirring constantly; remove from the stove and stir in four tablespoons of olive oil. This is a particularly good dressing for any one not accustomed to mayonnaise dressing, as a slight flavor of the oil is obtained. For use with fruit or vegetables the amount of sugar may be changed to one's taste.

Currant Muffins.

One cupful milk, two cupfuls of flour, two tablespoons fat, one-fourth cupful sugar, one-half teaspoonful salt, one teaspoonful baking powder, one egg, one-half cupful currants. Mix and sift dry materials together, add milk, then beaten egg and melted fat. Stir in currants, which have been washed and sprinkled with a little flour. Bake in a moderate oven about 20 minutes.

Oatmeal Bannocks.

Sift three cupfuls of oatmeal, one cupful of flour and a teaspoon of salt well together. Boil one pint of milk and in it melt two tablespoonfuls of butter. Make a hole in the middle of the sifted meal and flour and pour in the milk. Stir into a soft dough as quickly as possible, roll into a thin sheet, cut into round cakes and bake on a hot griddle. Butter while hot and serve. Also good cold.

Fruit Salads.

Take a ring of fresh pineapple and fill the center with sliced banana and strawberries and serve with French dressing or mayonnaise. Oranges and watercress make another good salad. Remove the fiber from the orange and cut into sections. Place on lettuce leaves with a portion of watercress. A French dressing is best for this.

Corn, Eggs and Bacon.

Fry eight slices of bacon and take out on the platter, then fry in the fat one-half can of corn until slightly brown; pour into this four eggs well beaten, with a little milk; add a bit of butter and stir until eggs are cooked.

When Milk Curdles.

Should you ever have trouble with milk curdling when you put it on to boil try adding a liberal pinch of bicarbonate of soda to each quart of milk before putting it on the stove.

Liver Fried in Bread Crumbs.

Cut the liver in slices, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip in beaten egg and very fine cracker crumbs. Fry six minutes in boiling lard.

BEEF SERVED WITH MACARONI

Appetizing Dish for the Cold Days
That Will Be Appreciable Portion of the Menu.

Two pounds of shank (or any preferred cut). Have saucepan very hot, fry out a piece of fat or grease bottom with butter, cut up meat and place in pan, allowing to fry until seared on every side. Salt and pepper, dredge with flour, pour on boiling water to just cover meat, cover closely and simmer slowly until nearly done. Do not add more water unless there is danger of going dry, for you only want enough for gravy and not a stew. Twenty minutes before serving pare potatoes and add whole with small piece of onion. At the same time put macaroni to cook in rapidly boiling water and allow to boil 15 minutes, stirring often with a fork so, as not to break, then drain and add to meat. Cook all together until potatoes are done, take out thick part on deep platter, thicken gravy with tablespoon of flour dissolved with little cold water, beat very smooth, then pour contents in platter and serve very hot. Dumplings can be added, but we never eat them. We like it made of round steak, but cheaper cuts are just as good, and really it is a delicious supper dish.—Exchange.

LAST WORD ON PRESERVES

Suggestions for the Final Putting Up of Pickles and Spices for the Winter Months.

There is still time for a few last jars of pickle or spice to be put up before winter. Red cabbage, white cabbage, tomatoes and onions, are all in their glory. Peppers and "dill," all the end of the season herbs, are just right for seasoning. Take advantage of these last pleasant days to put up a few more things to "bottle and seal."

Vegetable Soup—Scald, peel and mash one peck ripe tomatoes; run
two heads cabbage, one dozen medium carrots, one bunch parsley and half-pack onions through the food chopper; mince three stalks celery, and boil one dozen ears corn on cob and cut off. Mix all together and add two tablespoons salt to every gallon. If mixture seems dry add water. Boil until carrots are tender. Seal while hot in glass jars. In winter add contents to soup stock, and rich vegetable soup may be had at short notice.

Tomato Ginger Preserves—Nine
pounds of green tomatoes and half-pound green ginger stewed together.
Boil four lemons until soft and take out seeds. Chop lemons and mix with tomato, adding nine pounds of sugar

Elder Blossom Wine.

Nine pounds of white sugar, three gallons water, one yeast cake, one-half cup lemon juice, one quart fresh elder blossoms (picked from the stems), two pounds raisins and one pound dates.
Put sugar and cold water over the fire to dissolve sugar and let come to a boil without stirring. Boil five minutes, skim and add elder blossoms.
Stir well, take from the fire and cool.
When lukewarm add the yeast dissolved in warm water and lemon juice.
Put in earthen jar and let stand for six days, stirring the blossoms from the bottom of the jar several times daily. On the seventh day strain through a cloth and add raisins and dates. Cover tightly and bottle.
Looks and tastes like best champagne.
The elder blossoms give it a champagne flavor.

Scrub Mittens From Toweling.

Take an old Turkish towel or new towel, and cut and make large mittens from it. Keep a pair in the bathroom, hung behind the tub with tapes. After taking a bath slip on these mittens and clean the tub out.
They can be used when cleaning the bowl, toilet or tub, as they save the hands, and are better than a brush or rag.

Pole in Closet.

Purchase a curtain pole the length of your closet. Fasten this at the desired height in the middle of the closet by means of portiere brackets. In this way you will have the use of the sides of the closet, also the middle pole for coat and skirt hangers. You will find this a superior way to hanging your garments against the wall
as you have a cover for each one.

Lunch Rolls.

Stir together one pint of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, and a pinch of salt. Work in one teaspoonful of lard and add a half pint of milk. Mix to a smooth dough and roll to a half inch in thickness. Cut into irregular shape and fry in butter until brown. Serve hot.

How to Clean White Sweaters.

First powder some lump starch and rub it well into the dirtiest parts;
then roll the jersey up tightly and leave the starch in overnight.

The next morning shake and beat out every bit of starch, and you will find the sweater will be quite clean.

How to Clean Suede Shoes.

Put the shoes on shoetrees, but if you do not possess these, stuff the shoes with soft paper. Then rub well with a rag moistened with spirits of turpentine. When this is finished, place the shoes in the air to dry and no smell of turpentine will remain.

Fruit Fritters.

One cup of sweet milk, two eggs,
one tablespoon sugar, pinch of salt,
two cups of flour, one teaspoon baking powder. Add apple, cut in thin slices and fry on griddle. Nice with sauce.

HIS ONE REDEEMING FEATURE

Once the Little Pickaninny Gets His Lips Over Piece of Pie It's His,
Says Ford Parent.

A southern congressman relates how, when he was once making a campaign tour through the interior of Mississippi, he came upon a negro cabin, across the threshold of which lay a darky and a pickaninny of perhaps eight years of age.

The child was voraciously devouring a plate heaped high with chicken,
vegetables, corn bread and other bits
of food in a manner it was plainly to be seen, that commanded the elder negro's hearty admiration.

"Is that your child?" asked the congressman.

"Yes, boss, he's shorely mine," answered the father, with a broad grin.
"He's got a pretty fair appetite," remarked the congressman, after a moment's silence, during which the pickaninny finished the plate and produced a huge section of pie.

"Purty fair, boss; purty fair," said
the father. "Jes' look at him goin' after dat pie!" Then, after a further period of silence, the proud parent
added:

"Boss, it ain't no use a-talkin'; dat
chil's got a pow'ful influence over food. Onct he gets his upper lip ovah a piece o' pie it's his pie, boss; it's his pie!"—Harper's Magazine.

Another One on Smith.

A witty individual one morning
wagered that he would ask the same question of fifty different persons and receive the same answer from each.

The wit went to first one and then to another until he had reached the number of fifty. And this is how he won the bet: He whispered, half audibly
to each:

"I say, have you heard that Smith
has failed?"

"What Smith?" queried the whole fifty, one after another, and it was decided that the bet had been fairly won.—London Tit-Bits.

Great Bargain.

Mrs. Breen had talked enthusiastically of the largely advertised fire sale which was to take place in one of the downtown department stores.

That evening when her husband came home he looked about at a number of bundles which were lying on a table.

"Well, Mabel, what did you find at that wonderful fire sale?" he inquired.

"Oh, Will, I got some of the loveliest silk stockings at 24 cents a pair!
There isn't a thing the matter with them, except that the feet are burned off."—Harper's Magazine.

Getting Off His Ground.

"Will you take part in any discussion of banking and currency?"

"I suppose I'll have to," replied Senator Sorghum; "although it seems too bad when I know my constituents

PRICE SMASHING

Having determined upon a policy that requires the immediate conversion of a large portion of their stock into cash, the proprietors of this store have launched a price-smashing campaign without precedent in this town. Throwing aside profits, sacrificing all margins and forgetting, even, wholesale costs, every vestige of gain has disappeared from these prices. This means that the

Offers to the buyers of this community an unequalled opportunity for money-saving.

Think what it means to buy Monarch Shirts for 69 cents. See what a value a Shirt is which usually sells at $1.00 is at the price of 69 cents. Can you imagine a better value than $12.50 Suit at $6.98.

And so it goes all through this big stock, wherever your eyes turn, a fluttering green tag, bearing a bargain price, greets them. Every nook and corner, every inch of space presents bargain chances of appealing value to you as a buyer.

You can profitably spend hours in this store, because every minute of search will be rewarded by a decided saving upon needed merchandise. Early buyers, of course, get the greatest selections and chances at many short lots of exceptional worth. Come at once and save money by every visit.

SEVEN HOURS IN NEW YORK

The New York theatrical producing firm of Wee & Lambert struck something good in their musical comedy called "Seven Hours in New York," which they produced last season. From the first performance, success has perched on the banner of this venture. Business has been surprisingly good, and the audiences managers and newspapers have voiced their approval of the offering in no uncertain way. There is a steady stream of requests for return dates, and managers voluntarily write or wire ahead of the company, sincere endorsement of the performance.—Advertisement.

Lameness

Sloan's Liniment is a speedy, reliable remedy for lameness in horses and farm stock. Here's proof.

Lameness Gone
"I had a horse sprain his shoulder by pulling, and he was so lame he could not carry foot at all. I got a bottle of your Liniment and put it on four times, and in three days he showed no lameness at all, and made a thirty mile trip besides."—Walter B. Alorford, La Salle, Col.

For Splint and Thrush
"I have used Sloan's Liniment on a fine mare for splint and cured her. This makes the third horse I've cured. Have recommended it to my neighbors for thrush and they say it is fine. I find it the best Liniment I ever used. I keep on hand your Sure Collie Cure for myself and neighbors, and I can certainly recommend it for Colic."—S. E. Smith, McDonough, Ga.

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

TO MEET HFRE

Kitty Magnates Will Assemble
Next Thursday.

President Bassett, of the K. I. T. League, has called a meeting of the magnates of the league in this city Thursday, which is expected to be important. It will likely be decided whether the league will continue as now, or let Vincennes and Harrisburg drop out. The salary limit, which is $850, will be considered.

Paducah and Cairo and possibly Owensboro are said to be opposed to the re-election of Dr Bassett as president since his election as manager of the Nashville team in the Southern League. Other clubs believe that he is in a position to be more than ever helpful to the smaller league. Everybody admits that the Kitty was kept alive last year by Bassett's personal interest and financial support at critical times.

DELIGHTFUL DINNER

At Hospitable Home of Ex-Sheriff Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Low Johnson gave a delightful dinner party to the county officials and a limited number of other friends Friday evening at their suburban home. After the dinner, which was a bountiful feast of good things to eat, music was rendered in the parlor by Mrs. L. E. Foster, Miss Ruby Ward and Miss Annie Tobin. Judge Hanbery acted as toastmaster and a number of happy speeches were made.

SALE OF MULES.

Many Animals Offered For Sale
And Prices Were High.

Last Saturday was the time that an East St. Louis firm had advertised that they would have a man here to buy at private sale what surplus mules the farmers might have on hand and asked them to bring them in. The response was liberal, the buyer was here but he did not make any purchases until late in the afternoon and then he bought only one car, about 25 head.

P. B. ROBINSON PARALYZED

Found by Son Helpless And Speechless at Store
Sunday.

UNIMPROVED YESTERDAY

Whole Body Involved and Condition is Extremely Critical.

Mr. P. B. Robinson is lying in what is regarded as a hopeless condition at his home, 201 East Fourteenth Street, as the result of a paralytic stroke sustained Sunday morning.

Mr. Robinson is the owner of the Star Grocery on West Seventeenth street between Main and Water. Sunday morning he went down to the store to feed the horse that draws his delivery wagon. The feed is kept in the store. About 8 o'clock James Robinson, his oldest son, went in the store and found his father prostrated, helpless and speechless.

He was at once taken to his home and physicians summoned but up to yesterday morning there was no improvement in his condition. His whole body is involved and as he cannot talk no one can tell how long he had lain in the store before his son found him.

Mr. Robinson is 70 years of age and was an active business man. Owing to his age it is feared that his recuperative powers are so far gone that he will not be able to recover.

How I Made My Corn Crop.

Arthur Cook, of Daviess, who won the first premium for the greatest yield in the state in the Boys' Corn club department at the State Corn show has written this account of how he made his crop:

"When our teacher told us about the Corn Club I became very much interested, as I always liked to work on the farm, and enrolled as a member two years ago. I selected the same plat of ground for my corn this year that I had in corn last year, which was clay soil. It had been in red top and clover for three years. On April 10th I broke the ground eight inches deep with a two-horse Oliver chilled plow and applied one ton of ground limestone rock and 600 pounds of T. J. Turley's 2-8-10 fertilizer, harrowing and dragging three times. I planted the corn on May 17th in rows three and one-third feet apart and between ten and twelve inches in the row with a Campbell one horse drill. I had a good stand and plowed it five times with a five-tooth one-horse cultivator, using a mule twenty-one years old. We have used this same corn on our farm for twenty years. The variety was improved Red Cob corn. No barnyard manure was used. The net profit on the acre after paying full prices for all the work done and all expenses was $57.35, valuing the corn at sixty cents a bushel."

W. ARTHUR COOK.

Blackwell-Oliver.

Miss Eloise Blackwell, of Pembroke, and Mr. John Oliver, of near Fairview, were married in Clarks-ville Saturday. The wedding came as a surprise to their many friends.

The bride is a beautiful young lady of nineteen and graduated recently and conducted a school at Crofton, the session just closing last Friday. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hancock, with whom she made her home and a niece of C. R. Hancock, editor of the Pembroke Journal.

The groom is a prosperous young farmer of the Fairview neighborhood and is a son of the late John Oliver. They will make their home at the groom's farm.

All Are Acquitted.

Eugene Hunt, who was tried for the alleged murder of Jacob Mottley, with whose wife he was involved in a scandal at Bowling Green, was acquitted. It is said no white man for five years has been punished for a homicide in Warren county, though a number of murders have been committed.

FOR THE GRIP

Peruna Is Sometimes Used With Good Results

Mrs. Jane Gift.

A great many people use Peruna for the grip. Some use it as soon as the grip begins, taking it during the acute stage of the disease, claiming for it great efficacy in shortening the disease, and especially in shortening the after stages.

Many people take it after they have had the grip. Their convalescence is slow. They have suffered along for a month or two, without any signs of complete recovery. Then they resort to Peruna as a tonic, with splendid results.

Mrs. Jane Gift, R. F. D. 1, Athens, Ohio, whose portrait appears above, writes: "I think I would have been dead long ago if it had not been for Peruna. Six years ago I had la grippe very bad. The doctor came to see me every day, but I gradually grew worse. I told my husband I thought I would surely die if I did not get relief soon."

"One day I picked up the newspaper and accidentally found a testimonial of a woman who had been cured of grip by Peruna. I told my husband I wanted to try it. He went directly to the drug store and got a bottle of Peruna. I could see the improvement in a very short time and was soon able to do my work. I continued using it until I was entirely cured."

Mr. Victor Patneade, 328 Madison St., Topeka, Kas., writes: "Twelve years ago I had a severe attack of la grippe and I never really recovered my health and strength, but grew weaker every year, until I was unable to work."

"Two years ago I began using Peruna and it built up my strength so that in a couple of months I was able to go to work again. This winter I had another attack of la grippe, but Peruna soon drove it out of my system. My wife and I consider it a household remedy."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets. Ask your druggist for Free Peruna Lucky Day Almanac for 1914.

BASKET BALL GAME

Saturday Night Won By Our High School Girls 11 to 10.

The game of basket ball last Saturday night at the armory was the biggest event of its kind, it is said, that the young people have ever enjoyed. The attendance was 200 or more. It was a very close game between the young ladies of the High School and Guthrie. The score was 11 to 10. The last game played between the two teams was not so close as the one Saturday night, when our team was defeated.

The Rex Theatre Did Nice Thing For H. B. M. A.

Last Friday was H. B. M. A. day at The Rex. Manager Shrode valuntarily offered to donate the net proceeds of the show to the organization, put on a series of splendid attractions, got the young people on the run selling tickets for the occasion and gave a three months card to the one selling the greatest number.

The town certainly appreciated Mr. Shrode's liberality. During the day the house was filled and at night a record attendance showed what the young people had done towards helping the H. B. M. A. Every seat was occupied at the first presentation, standing was at a premium, the entrance was packed and the side walk was hardly open for any who might be passing. Nearly everybody in the throng had previously bought tickets from the young people.

Daughters of Confederacy Met

Christian County Chapter U. D. C. met with Mrs. R. T. Stowe yesterday and appropriately observed the 107th birthday of Gen. Robert E. Lee, who was born in Westmoreland county, Va., January 19th, 1807, died in Lexington, Va., October 12th, 1870.

There was a large gathering, not only of the members of the Chapter, but many others. County Attorney Ira D. Smith, was the speaker of the occasion and most creditably did he acquit himself. Besides the delightful vocal solo rendered by Miss Anna Virginia Trice, instrumental solo by Miss Julia Henry and a reading by Miss Elizabeth Gary, there were other features that added much to the program of the day.

Secretary of State C. F. Creechius is getting much unpleasant notoriety
out of his neglect of duty in advertising the election for the tax amendment to the constitution, by which he finds himself a bigger man than the many thousands of voters who carried the proposition at the polls.
The Courier-Journal goes so far as to remark significantly: "A dishonest
Secretary of State might accept a fortune as a fee to defeat an amendment by not advertising its submission. He might be impeached, but he could not be made to advertise
the election except in the event of his determination not to do so being a matter of public knowledge in time for a mandatory injunction to be secured." It is doubtful if these severe words are justified. The Secretary of State is a doctor and was probably ignorant of his duties requiring legal knowledge. There is a risk to run in electing to office a man ignorant of the duties of the office to be filled. The public often suffers because men try to fill offices for which they are unfitted. The proper thing would be for Dr.
Creechius to resume the practice of medicine without a moment's delay.
He has evidently waded beyond his depth.

WORTH THE TROUBLE

Story of a Spring, a Girl, a Man and Quicksand.

By DONALD ALLEN.

She was going to the country for her two weeks' vacation, but she was not enthusiastic a bit about it. She felt that she would rather go to bed and sleep for a fortnight.

She had found cheap board at a farmhouse.

She had skimmed herself for weeks
to buy a few extra things.

None of the other telephone girls at her station was going along.

There would be cows and pigs and sheep out there, but what of it?

There would be a meadow and a brook, but it would be just a common meadow with an old spotted cow in it,
and was that anything to enthu-
siasme over?

The brook, if there was one, would be about as big as a cent, and instead of babbling it would be as dumb as an owl by daylight.

There would be a hill somewhere around, but a girl would be an idiot to climb a hill when she might walk on level ground.

Very possibly there might be a sylvan grove, if the farmer hadn't sold it to the lumber trust, or the worms eaten up the leaves, but the palm trees
on the roof garden beat a sylvan grove
all hollow.

There would be a red-headed girl
there from a department store—the one at the notion table—and every day
she would be bragging of the tremendous sales she had made and how she froze the floor-walker when he got too funny. Besides, no telephone girl can have a friendship with a department store girl, and vice versa. For some unknown reason they glare at each other as they pass by.

No, it was not worth going away
for, and yet Miss Mira Anderson would go. The manager of the office said she was fagged out and needed the change. As she sat in the park
after her boarding dinner, out of sorts with the world, a woman came along and sat down beside her.

"You are sad," she said, after a moment.

No answer.

"You are going away very soon."

A shrug of the shoulders.

"Where the corn grows?"

A sniff of contempt.

"Out there where the corn grows you will find a spring near a creek. Look into it and you will see a face."

"My own, of course," laughed Miss Mira.

"No, it will not be."

"Then whose?"

"The face of the young man you are to marry within a year."

"Nonsense! I am no longer a kid!"

"You will see—you will see. I do not ask you for money. I tell you this because I see it. Things shall be better with you—goodbye."

When the woman had passed on the girl laughed sarcastically to herself,
but behold, what a queer thing human nature is! Five minutes later she was saying to herself:

"There's nothing in it, of course, but it's funny she should tell my fortune without pay. I have read of such things and they may be true. It would be funny, wouldn't it?"

And at the end of half an hour she went home to finish her packing, and she actually whistled as she packed!

The state ought to pay some women
by the year to go among discouraged, disheartened women and cheer them
up with predictions.

Miss Mira found herself glad to be out in the country. Not so much on account of the spotted cow and the creek that didn't babble, but while she laughed over what the woman had told her on the park bench, down in her heart
she almost believed it. She waited three days and then asked the farmer:

"Do you grow corn?"

"Lands, yes!" he replied.

"Where is it?"

"Right in front of your eyes. Don't you see that ten-acre field?"

"Why, I thought corn grew on trees!"

The field fronted on the highway and ran back to the woods. If there was a spring anywhere around it it would be back there. Had the girl asked the farmer, he would have told her exactly where it was, and at the time given her a caution, but she imagined that if she asked he would suspect the reason and poke fun at her.
Thus, she wandered off by herself, and it was two hours before she came upon the place she sought.

"Yes, there was the spring, and a little rivulet flowing away from it.
The ground around was damp and soggy, but Miss Mira took little notice of that. If the woman had been right about the spring, why not about the face? Two steps more and she could kneel and look. Then she stepped upon a wet and sandy spot and was pulled down.

Quicksand! It gripped her feet like the teeth of a wolf. It pulled at her ankles as if there was a rope around them. In a minute she had been gripped at the knees. Then she caught the branches of a bush and hung and screamed. She could save herself from sinking deeper, but she could not pull herself out more than she could fly.

With the tall cornstalks and trees about her to smother the sound, the girl's screams could not be heard 40 yards. She sized up the situation after a while and was quiet. She would have to wait until they came in search of her. They would not know in what direction to search. They might not find her till next day. Six feet away

was the face of the bubbling spring reflecting the face of the man she was to marry, but she could not pass over that six feet.

Two hours went past, and then she heard some one whistling as he came through the corn. He came with careless step, and when within a few feet of her, but hidden by the corn, she heard him say:

"Hang it all, that spring ought to be right around here somewhere!"

The captive did not call out. Some one else was in search of the spring.
What for? Judging by the voice, it was a young man.

"Of course it's all nonsense, but I'm going to have a look just the same."

The owner of the voice moved to the right and halted. Then he moved to the left and halted. The luxuriant cornstalks made a jungle of the place.

"I'd better stayed away and looked in a glass of lemonade for the face. If I were a farmer and had a spring, I think I'd know where it was within half a mile. Perhaps some old cow has sucked all the water out, and the face I was to look-for has become a hill of corn!"

"Were you looking for a spring,
kind sir?" called the girl, in mocking tones.

"By George!" from the cornstalks.

"If so, it is here."

"What is it?"

"A damsel in distress."

"Say, if you are taking a bath in the spring—"

"But I'm not."

It was a young man who burst out of the corn and stood surveying her for a moment before whistling a note
of surprise and then asking:

"What sort of a performance is this?"

"I guess we'll entitle it a quicksand bath!"

"By George! By George!"

"And when you get through with Mr.
George you can see if I am worth saving! I have had all the feeling pinched out of me, and am tired of hanging to this bush."

George Chester had mechanical sense, even if he did work in a music store. A rope and a horse would have pulled the girl out, but he broke down a young tree and used it as a lever, and the quicksand grudgingly
let go.

"You see," he said, as Miss Mira sat on solid ground, "you came here to see a face in the spring."

"So did you!" she replied.

"Right-o! Who told you to come?"

"A woman I met in the park."

"Same here. Didn't it strike you as silly?"

"It did."

"Same here, again. Are you stopping at Brown's?"

"Yes."

"Just got there after you left. I was in such a hurry to get to this spring that I didn't wait to unpack."

"And aren't you going to look for it?" laughingly queried the girl.

"No use. I'm looking at it right now, and so are you. I'll retire to the depths of the corn for ten minutes
while you make yourself more presentable. Mustn't give ourselves away
at Brown's."

"I am sure I am most grateful for your coming."

"Don't mention it. I'd do as much for any girl I was going to marry!"

"You—you—"

"Oh, the woman was right enough,
only she didn't mention the quicksand. Of course we shall marry!"

She had to be won in the customary way, however, but she was worth the trouble. She doesn't call "hello"
to him, but makes it "dear!"

paper Syndicate.)

HAPPINESS AT ONE'S HANDS

Ideal Likely to Be Found Elusive if a Too Wide Search Is Contemplated.

Sometimes it seems as though the very ones who are untrammelled, who can go wherever and whenever they like, are the last to find happiness, having the whole wide world in which to carry on the quest of it. Felicity is discovered soonest by those who stay in one place long enough to make a thorough search. The restless ones, with the consciousness of all the earth
outspread before them, are tempted to another spot before they have explored the region round about them.

When you were a child you may have played a ball game in long grass, where presently, to your exas-peration, you lost the ball. It bounded over your head and hid as though an evil spirit dwelt in it, determined to stop the game and spoil your fun. You thought you knew precisely where it fell—and found you were the more deceived. It would not do, however, to "hunt all over the lot." You had to be patient, and compose your febrile eagerness to a systematic search over a limited area, while your comrade hunted in a circumscribed area adjoining. And presently you—or he—stumbled on an object that was not a rolling stone, and the lost was found.

That is the best rule in the hunt for happiness. Perhaps it is under your feet!—Philadelphia Ledger.

Vitally Interested.

A few minutes after the aeroplane
had taken its flight a bare headed, wildly excited man came rushing to the aviation grounds.

"Did Hiram J. Squillinger go up in that thing as a passenger?" he asked breathlessly.

"Yes," answered one of the bystanders. "What difference does it make to you?"

"I'm an agent of the life insurance company that's carrying a $25,000 risk
on him!" he gasped.

BENEFIT TO PUBLIC HEALTH

Movement to Have Special Training for Surgeons Warmly Indorsed in Some Quarters.

What is a surgeon? By present standards in this country, any graduate of a medical school who chooses to appropriate the term. For the most delicate, most dangerous, most technical of all craftsmanship no special education or training is required, though it is generally available.

As matters now stand in medical practice, when the general practitioner must be on emergency call for every known ailment and accident, it would perhaps be unwise and impracticable to demand a separate diploma for operative work; but that there should be some distinguishing mark whereby the public could determine what physicians are adequately fitted by training, experience, or exceptional qualities for the craft of the knife is most desirable.

Hence the prospective value of the movement for a society or college (in the sense of qualified organization) of American surgeons, electing to membership men of special training or proved acquirements, and guaranteeing, not officially or legally, but by the recognized authority of its standards, the fitness—technical, ethical, and moral—of the men who are entitled to affix its distinctive letters to their names.

Such an organization is now being planned by a number of the leading surgeons of the country. Its opponents object that it will tend to divide sharply medical from surgical practice, and that the surgeons will become a mere "human carpenter," to whom the physician will turn over such patients as he sees fit after diagnosing their cases.

Even if this be so, the gain to the public health will not be the less. And the devoted expert of that combined science and craft which restores ease to the pain stricken, movement to the paralytic, sight to the blind, and reason to the mad will lack for not highest honor from those whom he serves and saves by whatever name he may be known.—Collier's Weekly.

Wise Audience.

As a lecturer on his experiences, Archibald Forbes was very popular, and he was fond of recounting an experience of his debut in that capacity at Leven, Fifeshire. With a thumping heart, the new lecturer appeared at the hall door shortly before the starting time, 8 o'clock, and not wishing to push through a great audience on his way to the platform, he asked the hallkeeper to conduct him to a side door.

"Ye needna mind," replied that functionary, not unkindly, "there's no crowd."

When Forbes entered the hall he had to admit that the keeper was quite correct. There was not a single soul present. After a bit, however, a man strolled in and calmly proceeded to choose a seat. It seems he was a commercial traveler, putting up at the place for the night, who had found time hanging heavily on his hands. Nobody else coming, Forbes said to his audience:

"Will you have the lecture or will you have a drink?"

"A drink," said the traveler.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Willie Won't Play It Again.

Saturday evening Willie arrived home with his new suit, looking as though he had passed through a serious attack of trouble during the afternoon.

It was entirely riddled with small holes, which had evidently been cut out with great care. His long-suffering mother wept when she beheld the ghastly condition of his new "rig-out."

"Oh, Willie, what have they been doing to you now?" she wailed.

"Nothing," said Willie; "only we've been playing shops."

"But what has that got to do with all those holes that have ruined your new suit?"

"Oh, well you see, mother, we were playing grocery store."

"Well, go on, Willie."

"And, you see, mother, I was the cheese!"

History of False Teeth.

Until little more than a century ago humanity had to rub along without false teeth, of which nowadays one firm alone claims to sell more than twelve million a year. The first successful maker was Giuseppe Ponsi, an Italian dentist, who started practice in Paris in 1798, and thanks to his skillful treatment of Lucien Bonaparte, soon made his way. After years of experiment he discovered the substance from which artificial teeth are made, and received the gold medal of the French Academy of Science. One of the earliest persons fitted with false teeth was the Empress of Russia. After Waterloo Ponsi migrated to London and then to Madrid, where Ferdinand VII. rewarded him with a yearly pension of a thousand ducats for a set of false teeth.

The Bride's Idea.

He had asked his bride to press his trousers for him. "I'm in a hurry," he said.

In a little while she brought them to him with the crease down the side.

"Why what the —" he exclaimed.

"I noticed," said she, "that you've always had them creased in the same place. Don't you know that by doing that they'll soon wear through? So I just changed the location of the crease to save the trousers."—Detroit Free Press.

Dread Of An Operation.

N. Manchester, Ind.—Mrs. Eva Bashore, of this place, says: "I suffered female misery of every description. Two doctors attended me, and advised an operation. I lost weight until I weighed ninety pounds. I dreaded an operation, and, instead, began to take Cardui. In a short time, I gained 25 pounds, and feel as well as I ever did. Cardui, I am sure, saved my life." Cardui is today used in thousands of homes, where it relieves pain and brings back strength and ambition. It is a woman's medicine, for woman's ailments, and you are urged to try it for your troubles. Ask your druggist. He will tell you about Cardui.

Costly Ivory Mats.

There are but three mats of ivory in existence? The largest one measures eight feet by four feet, and, although made in the north of India, has a Greek design for a border. It is used only on state occasions, like the signing of important state documents. The cost of this precious mat was almost incalculable, for more than 6,400 pounds of pure ivory was used in its construction. Only the finest and most flexible strips of material could be used, and the mat is like the finest woven fabric.

How Planets Came Into Being.

From the striking relation of planetary motions, a British scientist has made the deductions that the planets grew out of scattered material each bringing the next into being by perturbation, with Jupiter as the starting point, and the only planet with an original nucleus. From the law of evolution worked out, it is concluded that the nearest planet beyond Neptune should be 47.5 as far from the sun as the earth, and comparable with Neptune in size.

Thimbles Centuries Old.

Thimbles have been known for many centuries. Some specimens unearthed by archaeologists are known to be 2,500 years old. They are of bronze, and their outer surfaces show the familiar indentations for engaging the head of the needle. These thimbles are almost exactly like those of our day, except that they have no tops with which to cover the end of the finger.

First Riddle.

The first riddle on record is that propounded by Samson to the thirty companions who came to the marriage feast of his wife—afterward burned to death with her father by the Philistines—and for the answer to which he promised to give them 30 sheets and 30 changes of garments. "Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness." For the outcome, see the book of Judges, 14:12-20.

Kansas Philosopher.

A reporter for the Globe asked an Atchison man for an item the other day. "Well," the man replied, "I did hear several interesting things, but will not repeat them. It is not because I don't want to help you, but it is because I don't believe nine-tenths of what I hear. I don't exactly distrust mankind, but I don't believe what people say, I'm sorry to say. It is not because people are crooked, but because they are careless."—Kansas City Star.

In a Fir Tree.

In Scappoose, Ore., there is a windmill in a fir tree. The fir tree, which serves as a tower, was sawed off at a height of about 60 feet from the ground, and a well was sunk at the foot of the tree. A tank house was then attached to the side of the trunk some 40 feet above the ground, a wind wheel was placed above, and the ingenious owner has a model mill for all practical purposes.

To become again more joyous, more childlike, more naive than we are, to look into the world with clear eyes and to consign to the devil the problematical chimeras behind which only too often hides the unclean turmoil of the market place, chimeras which have made us unhappy, slavish and uncertain—that would do us all good.—Boston Transcript.

A YEAR NOT NEEDEDIn Which To Complete Post-office Building, Says Contractor.

The contract for the completion of the postoffice building calls for its completion by the 15th of January, 1915. The contractor told Postmaster Williams a few days since that he was going to finish the building by next Thanksgiving day. He has nothing to do with furnishings, but if the man who has the contract pushes things as the Paradis Company does, Assistant Postmaster Breathitt will realize his dream of years before 1914 is blotted from the calendar.

Paducah's Market.

In its claim to being the largest tobacco market in the Western district, the Paducah Sun very wisely says that it is doubtful whether Paducah can maintain its present lead. When the season closes in Hopkinsville it will be found that this city will be at the head of the column. Apparently tobacco has just started to come in.
